Gone to Dear Old London.

Mr. Donald Carmichael, one of Alberta's champion boxers, left here on Tuesday, for Montreal, from which place he sails next week for the Old Country. Don has been unable for some time past to arrange a boxing match with any suitable contender, and lies out to see what Great Britain has to offer in boxers of his weight. He is not travelling under the auspices of any boxing club or sports association, thus leaving himself free to "take on" when he gets to the Old Country, anyone whom he pleases, without consulting his "promoter." With the experience he has had with this class, Don is inclined to be promoter-shy.

Capt. Gosset, one of the champs, ardent admirers, leaves for the Old Country on Monday next, and will probably meet up with Mr. Carmichael on his arrival in London. On leaving here, the Captain expects to travel right thru by rail to Halifax, and sail from there in time to do some Christmas shopping.

Don's many admirers will wish him every success in his venture, and all can't help but admire him for his pluck in making the trip. He expects to be away about three months.

"Safety First!"

There was quite a flurry of excitement in town on Thursday morning when the rumor spread that the school van, driven by Contractor Mayer, had had a narrow escape that morning from being struck by the Canadian National U. flyer at the Main street crossing, while on its way to the local school with its load of pupils. The truth of the matter is, that there had not been such a narrow escape as was reported, and that Driver Mayer had gotten his laden van over the tracks in plenty of time, and had taken the necessary precautions.

Notwithstanding this, it should be borne in on Mr. Mayer by the proper authorities that continued vigilance on his part for the safety of the 20-odd pupils whom he drives, is still a stern necessity.

The following morning it was noticed that Driver Mayer stopped the van on coming to the north side of the crossing, got out and gazed up and down the tracks before proceeding with the van.

While the matter is under discussion, it would seem fitting that an effort be made to have a wig-wag signal installed at the Main street crossing similar to the one now in operation at the Bauerlein crossing, a few miles from Spruce Grove.

Grain Buyers Work 90 Hours

The grain buyers at country elevators are said to be protesting against the long hours which they have been compelled to work, and are seeking protection of the recently formed Grain Buyers' Association. On account of the truck handling, which has been going on night and day, these men find that they have been at times compelled to work 72 to 90 hours at a stretch. An attempt is to be made to have legislation passed which would control grain deliveries.

The Unemployed Youth Problem

A most important contribution to the problem of providing for the care of the unemployed will have been made if the youth division of the Federal Unemployment Commission under Alan Chambers is able to make feasible suggestions for the absorption of unemployed young men and women by industry.

Absorption by industry is mentioned as a nine qua non to the solution of this problem because it is only in this way that the problem of unemployed youth can be solved permanently and in a satisfactory manner. All other plans can be nothing more than temporary palliatives.

This section of the Unemployment Commission has already made an interim report to the Federal government and it is reported that the cabinet at Ottawa, at the time of writing, is busily engaged considering the proposals contained in the report, presumably with a view to putting into effect as speedily as possible those suggestions which may be deemed timely and appropriate.

One of the most interesting and important recommendations in the report is a proposal for the establishment of a system of apprenticeship in co-operation with industrial concerns and, for more reasons than one, this may be regarded as one of the most satisfactory features of the proposals. In the first place a system of apprenticeship would constitute a step in the direction of a permanent solution of the problem for those young men and women who would participate.

In the second place an apprenticeship system would solve a problem which industry is facing in the near future, namely a shortage of skilled help. This is a problem which is already looming on the industrial horizon and one which is likely to become acute within the next three or four years. In the opinion of observers. Unless industry itself takes the initiative, without government aid, the country is likely to witness, in the near future, the anomalous spectacle of thousands of young people ready and presumably educationally equipped for a life vocation on the one hand and, on the other hand, industry clamoring for technically trained help but unwilling to take those available because they are not experienced.

This pending situation leads one to speculate as to the efficiency of the training conducted in the public technical and vocational training schools of the country. Are they fulfilling the purpose for which they were established and partially endowed with funds from the Federal treasury?

Some doubt may be expressed in the answer to this question in the light of present day experience. Parents find, after their sons have completed a course in these schools that, even where there are vacancies to be filled, the industry for which these lads have presumably been trained are not willing to take them because they are "inexperienced."

In illustration one might cite the automobile industry, an industry which has been reasonably busy, at least during the last couple of years, despite the depression and is showing increasing signs of vitality. Yet, when there are vacancies in automobile repair and service shops, foremen look around for men who have been previously engaged in this class of work and take them on rather than the youthful products of motor engineering classes in the technical schools because the former are experienced.

These foremen point out, and presumably with justification, that they cannot fill a vacancy in their shops with one of these young men because they could not charge their customers the time it would take them to do a repair job, even though they were drawing a low wage. Presumably this condition will exist until the last available experienced man has been absorbed and the industry is forced to take on youths leave to adventure into the world of industry they will at least be as well qualified as second or third year apprentices.

This may mean remodelling the classes in the vocational schools under changed conditions or other changes will have to be made in the system of training through a look-up with industrial concerns.

It might also be said without contradiction that industry itself has been short-sighted in not having provided for future requirements by establishing a system of apprenticeship on its own account on a general scale.

Light Beam No One Sees

Pure African Air Makes Powerful Beacon Light Invisible

Every night a 3,000-foot beam of light is thrown into the sky at the Empire Exhibition at Johannesburg, South Africa, by a 14,000,000-candlepower beacon—yet no one can see it! The Johannesburg climate is to blame. It has beaten the engineers who set out to make the beam visible for 100 miles. They installed the apparatus in a hollow tower, 150 feet high and dominating the entire exhibition. This they called the Tower of Light.

Their plans have miscarried. All spectators can see on a cloudless night is the glow of the stars, even when the light is fully switched on. This paradox is caused by the purity of Johannesburg's air. There are no humidity, no dust and no low clouds for the light to be reflected against—and light is invisible unless it is reflected, a scientist has explained to the exhibition authorities.

Thus the most powerful light in South Africa cannot be seen. Durban Bluff lighthouse is only 3,000,000 candlepower and the Cape of Good Hope light, 1,000,000 candlepower, but they flash down on the sea. If for a second the 14,000,000 candlepower Johannesburg light could be turned down on to the exhibition grounds every one would be temporarily blinded. Similarly if an airplane would fly in the beam's path, it would be picked out with daylight clarity up to a height of 3,000 feet.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile daily. If it fails to do this, the food does not digest, the blood is impure, the skin breaks out in eruptions, the eyes become sore, the stomach is upset, the bowels are constipated, harmful poisons are left in the body, and you feel weak, sad, and the world looks pink. A new liver movement is always kept at the case. You need something that will get the liver to work. It takes time, and Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely. They make you feel "up and up." Harshness and gentleness make the liver friendly to the work of the colon. But there is no poison or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

New Means Of Livelihood

Poor In Japan Earn Money From Cat Hunting

Japanese poor have turned to cat catching for livelihood. They sell the cats to makers of musical instruments for manufacture of cat gut strings.

With a fluttering sparrow as bait and a club for a weapon, the cat catcher starts his work at day-break—when the toms and their mates are returning from a tour of the night spots.

The cat catcher pulls a string attached to his sparrow's leg. The bird squeals and attracts pussy wh attacks. The cat jumps and the stalker bangs with a club—thereby ending kitty's nine lives.

One hazard—the cat catcher is liable to prosecution for destruction of private property if caught with an animal belonging to someone else.

Nineteen Years Of Flying

Imperial Airways Commander Has Flown 1,300,000 Miles

Known as the "Captain Kettle of the Air," because of his pointed beard, O. P. Jones, one of the senior commanders of Imperial Airways, has now spent an aggregate time in the air of just over a year and a half, and has piloted aircraft a distance equivalent to 52 journeys round the world.

He has completed 19 years of flying, during which time he has been in the air nearly 15,000 hours, has carried approximately 50,000 passengers without mishap, and has flown 1,300,000 miles. Mr. Jones is only 88.

All Empire Wood

In a letter to the Times, the Chief Royal Engineer notes that, as the wayfarer goes up the escalator at Moorgate Station he goes on a trip through the Empire's forests. The whole of the balustrade is composed of beautiful panels of wood from every part of the Empire. Canada, Newfoundland, Africa, India, and Britain itself are rich in timber wealth. But why, he asks, restrict this excellent idea to Moorgate Station?—Canada's Weekly, London.

Sees Another Depression

Economist Says Future Holds Both Threat And Promise

Willard L. Thorp, director of economic research for Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., told the American finance conference that "if depression is around the corner behind us, it is also around the next corner in the future."

Thorp said in reference to the "next corner" that there "are no grounds for assurance that it is not there."

"Already, I find evidence in isolated spots of the appearance of a 'boom psychology,'" he said. "With expanding consumer purchasing power, interest rates low and six years of enforced consumer economy behind us, some are seeing no limit to the current upswing."

"We seem to be headed for what a British professor calls a period of optimistic error."

The "problems of prosperity," Thorp said, "are more difficult than those of depression. . . I know no condition which is more dangerous for a business than a period of sustained high profits."

He asserted there was a need of "economic leadership," because the "future includes both threat and promise."

Distributing New Varieties

Grain, Grass, And Alfalfa Supplied In Two-Pound Packages

Samples of new variety of grain, grass and alfalfa are to be distributed by the Saskatchewan Field Husbandry Association, to members, for next year's seeding. These are mostly two-pound packets and include such sorts as Colless barley, Bison flax, Fairway crested wheat grass and Thatcher wheat. Prices quoted apply to Alberta and Manitoba as well as Saskatchewan. It is expected 1931 seed will be granted by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association to much of this seed.

A Real Masterpiece

California Baker Makes Unique Cake Five Feet High

George Wong, Oakland, California, is a baker by trade, so in his spare time he amuses himself making cakes.

George's off-hour productions, however, are not the size you buy in a bakery. They tower up and up until they almost hit the ceiling.

His masterpiece is a sort of combination of the Taj Mahal, the California State Capitol, and the 1893 world's fair. It rises more than five feet and occupies a base four feet by three.

Wong used 1,035 eggs and 400 pounds of powdered sugar in its construction, and nothing else. It weighs 450 pounds and is valued by its maker at $5,000.

Among its features—all in miniature—are 94 columns, 168 windows, nine offices equipped with desks, telephones, radios and even coat hangers, 42 flower pots and 39 figures of occupants. For his make-believe people he constructed ten fire-escapes.

Underground Parking For London

Would Help To Relieve Traffic Problem In Metropolis

The world's metropolises may soon have underground parking areas.

Mr. Hore-Bellah, the British minister of transport, has suggested to the local authorities that they should give prompt consideration to the powers which parliament extended to them under the Restriction of Locomotive Development Act of last year.

The act gave power to London local authorities to provide and maintain both buildings and underground areas for use as parking places.

Mr. Hore-Bellah has already expressed the view that the parking of vehicles in a public street is a privileged use of the highway not contemplated by law and should be confined within the narrowest limits.

The provision of suitable places where vehicles may wait off the highway would make for the freer and safer movement of traffic.

According To Color

Red Houses In Istanbul, Turkey, Include High Social Status

There soon won't be any trouble in deciding which is "Park Avenue" in Istanbul, Turkey—all the houses will be painted bright red. And, to prevent less fortunate citizens from forgetting that they live in slums, their homes will be dull gray.

This branding of the different sections of the ancient city is expected by the Municipal Council to make it one of the most original in the world. The Council decreed that houses in the same section must be painted the same color according to "the breadth of the street, the brightness of light and particularly, on the social classes to which the inhabitants of the different quarters belong."

No vehicles will be permitted on "red" streets, which are reserved for pedestrians.

Greater Assistance To The Coal Industry Of Western Canada Is Sought

Er-B. Clarry, Alberta trade commissioner, suggested that the Dominion government and the National Railways provide greater assistance to the coal industry of western Canada, that they may be able to compete successfully in the Ontario market.

It was unfortunate, Mr. Clarry told the Ontario associated bodies of trade, that although Canada was endowed with enormous deposits of coal, there were situated in the east, from western and eastern sections while Ontario and Quebec, in which resided the great bulk of population and which was highly industrialized, had to import their entire coal requirements.

Alberta contained the largest coal reserves, some geologists estimating that the province possessed 34 per cent. of the coal of the world and 72 per cent. of the reserves of the British Empire. A conservative estimate, said the speaker, was 40,000,000,000 tons.

"Notwithstanding these huge coal reserves, Canada is importing each year, chiefly to Ontario and Quebec, upwards of 12,000,000 tons annually."

While the tonnage produced by Alberta mines last year was 5,644,973, with a value of $13,946,000, a great majority of the mines work for part of the year only due to lack of markets.

"Alberta has, however, captured the markets of western Canada and for some years has been making an effort to supply at least a portion of Ontario's requirements," Mr. Clarry continued.

Assistance by way of subventions to Nova Scotia and Alberta mines was not sufficient to dislodge any very appreciable quantity of American anthracite although the movement of Nova Scotia bituminous coal to Ontario and Quebec had been substantial in the past few years. Mr. Clarry believed such assistance should be extended.

"Canada should frame a fuel policy that would make every one of our provinces independent of foreign countries in its fuel requirements," declared the Albertan. "It strikes or other disturbances in the coal mining areas of the United States and shipments of coal stopped to Canada, Ontario and Quebec would never feel the effects of it if we build up a smooth-running marketing system wherein coal from Alberta and Nova Scotia would be available at all times."

To Check Weed Spread

Canada Has Issued Prohibited List Under Seeds Act

It is believed that eighty per cent. of the many varieties of weeds now found in Canada were introduced into this country from Europe, principally through the medium of imported seed.

With the object of checking the spread of some of the more troublesome weeds already established, and of preventing the introduction into Canada of the weeds from other countries, a "prohibited list" of weeds has been included in a recent revision of the regulations under the Seeds Act, and it is now unlawful to sell in Canada any seed containing the seeds of "prohibited weeds."

This "prohibited list" as at present constituted includes Field bindweed, Dodder, Johnson grass, Hoary creep, Leafy spurge and Russian knapweed. Field bindweed and Dodder are already established in Canada but infestations are limited to particular localities. The other weeds of the "prohibited list" if at all known in Canada, are present to only a slight extent.

As occasion requires additions will be made to the "prohibited list" in order to protect Canada against the introduction from outside sources of new and objectionable weeds.

Ranching For Women

Sheep Raising Is Interesting Career Which Pays Profits

Go west, young woman, and run a sheep ranch, Mrs. Kathleen Nielsen advised.

"It's not a crazy idea. I mean it," the secretary-treasurer of the Montana Wool Growers' Association, insisted.

"Obviously, I don't mean all young women. I'm talking about some of those intelligent, well-equipped Eastern college women, who happen to be just plain bored, or who are seeking an interesting career, with profits.

"I think a lot of them could come out here and make a go of sheep ranching. Lots of Montana women are doing it and like it."

Mrs. Nielsen recently bought some pure bred sheep and a friend is tending them for her on a southwestern Montana ranch.

"It's a small start, but some day I hope to have a real herd and a ranch of my own."

She hopes her eighteen-year-old daughter, Virginia, now in school at Sioux Falls, S.D., will "get interested in ranching." "She wants to be a nurse now, but I can't see that."

"She knows 'one clever Montana woman who has become the best wool buyer in the State, and wool men themselves say so."

Eliminating The Noise

Factory Agrees To Turn Out Quieter Motorcycles

Motor traffic is noisy enough, goodness knows, but motorcycle traffic is usually even noisier and some of the motorcycles which bark and moor through the streets, particularly during the night hours, should be placed in the pound.

Realizing this and acting upon representations made by the British Motorcycle Manufacturers' Union has now given an undertaking to the ministry that no motorcycle "making a noise that could be described as offensive" will be hereafter allowed to leave their works. Only racing and speedway cycles are excepted.

This news was happily hailed with delight by the British public, especially in view of the large number of motorcycles which are in commission in this country.

Canadians would be glad to have similar assurances from the manufacturers of this country. Even more welcome, however, would be word from the producers of motor trucks and transports that they had succeeded in evolving noiseless vehicles.

Tenants Of Hampton Court

Name Of The Thirty Suites Ever Vacant Long

When any of the thirty suites in Hampton Court becomes vacant it doesn't long remain so, for there is a long list of eligible ladies. The King offered a suite to Mrs. Theodore Woods, widow of Dr. Woods, former Bishop of Peterborough, who contracted a fatal chill at a Cenotaph service. Another newswoman is likely to be the Grand Duchess Xenia of Russia, who now lives in Frogmore Cottage, which the King now wants for a very close relative. Among residents at the Palace is Lady Haig, who has a suite above the State rooms in the east wing and is fortunate in having the use of the only lift in the palace. Lady Mordaunt, widow of General Sir Stanley Mordaunt, of Bagdad fame, lives in the Tudor wing.

A Work Of Art

Hamilton Man Builds Sugar Model Of Russia's Kremlin

Hamilton, Ontario, like Moscow has its Kremlin. The Hamilton one is neither as big nor as lasting as the Russian one—but it is almost as beautiful. The Moscow structure is credited with being so beautiful that Ivan the Terrible, 500 years ago put out the eyes of the architect so that he could not devise anything as fine.

Hamilton's Kremlin is made of sugar, glass and wood, but mostly sugar. It is about six feet long and almost as high and takes up the greater part of a room in the home of Thomas H. Hammett, 40 Leinster Avenue, who constructed it. Mr. Hammett is a brother of Jack Hammett, noted mining magnate.

"I have been doing this sort of thing all my life as a hobby," Mr. Hammett told a reporter. "Over 40 years ago, before I left Hamilton for Hollywood, I made a sugar replica of the City Hall. I have done Cologne Cathedral and many others, but none to equal this as my hobby." Mr. Hammett told a reporter. "Over 40 years ago, before I left Hamilton for Hollywood, I made a sugar replica of the City Hall. I have done Cologne Cathedral and many others, but none to equal this as my hobby."

Mr. Hammett was for many years a baker in Hollywood, and it was through decorating iced cakes that he got the idea of going into bigger things. He said the model would last at least 20 years. An architect who recently viewed Mr. Hammett's Kremlin measured it carefully and declared that the proportions were almost perfect. Minarets and statues are marvelously sculptured.

Had To Uphold Dignity

Small Thing Caused Ohio Lawyer To Lose His Case

Gen. Charles B. Goddard of Zanesville, Ohio, a lawyer of dignity, once lost a case because he would not drink a glass of water in court.

Attorney Goddard was defending his client who had been sued for allegedly contaminating a well by changing a drain. As exhibit A, Goddard brought forth a glass of the water, holding it before the jury as he called attention to its clearness and purity.

When it came the opposing attorney's turn, he threw down a dollar beside the glass and declared, "Gentlemen of the jury, I'll give Gen. Goddard that dollar if he will drink that glass of water." He felt sure that Goddard's dignity would not permit him to accept such a challenge.

Goddard refused to drink, and his opponent won a verdict.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Coronation Will Be Colorful

Even Pavements Are To Be Gay For The Occasion

Pavements and streets in England in addition to houses, shops and gardens, are to go gay for the Coronation. Many permanent improvements are being planned to mark the occasion.

A scheme to repave part of the promenade at Brighton with modern colored paving slabs is to be discussed. The cost would be $14,000.

"Demand for Coronation bulbs, plants and seeds is so great that we can hardly cope with the orders," the proprietor of a famous South Coast nursery said.

"Garden schemes for the spring are all red, white and blue. Favorite flowers to bloom in May are scarlet and white tulips and blue forget-me-nots.

Officials at the Earl Marshall's office are wondering whether to break away from precedent when the dress style chosen for the Coronation is exhibited to the pressmen who will wear it on May 13 and use a live model.

When King George was crowned the Coronation style was shown at a special exhibition to pavement and accredited Court dressmakers on a wax model.

May Expect Too Much

Japan Hoping Hen Will Break World Production Record

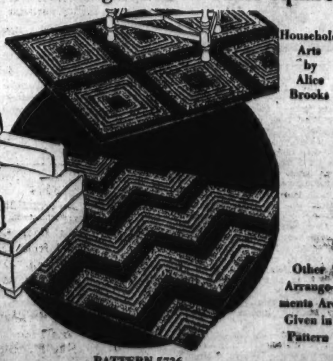

In Japan they have a hen which is expected to break the record of 360 eggs in a year. It has been estimated that the average hen laying 200 eggs in a year is producing five times her own weight in eggs during that period and that means like a good deal for one average hen to do, and yet there are plenty of hens to-day which have stepped away beyond the 200-per-year mark.

Somehow we are inclined to hope that hen in Japan fools the people who are figuring she is good enough to lay more than 360 eggs in a year. Possibly they have in mind one egg per day for the full year and after that is reached the next step will be to get two eggs per day, and that, of course, is just another form of slavery. There would be no time off for attending to clucking in the spring.

It's too much to expect a hen to make a 1,000 per cent. record and number that to remember that it takes a good baseball player to tap above the 400 mark.—Peterborough Examiner.

Varied Rugs Made of Same Square

Here's a grand way to inexpensively brighten up your room—crochet this beautiful rug and then make an Afghan to match. Either is made of a simple square—repeated and joined in varied arrangements, a different design results. Two ways are shown—more are given in the pattern. These arrangements are equally good for rug or Afghan. Use rug, rug mat, or candlewick for the rug. Germantown for the Afghan. It's fine pick-up work. There is no Alice Brooks pattern book published

Two research workers have counted some throughout the world, have figured trends and have come to the conclusion that the peak of world population probably would be reached in 2100 with 2,645,000,000.

Present population was placed at 2,073,000,000, and increase of nearly five-fold over the 445,000,000 in the world in 1630, the earliest time of a recorded estimate.

The present rate of growth is approximately one per cent. annually, but the research workers do not expect this rate to continue long and believe that in shortly more than a century and a half the top will be reached.

The scientists who made the count are Dr. Raymond Pearl and Sophia A. Gould of the John Hopkins University School of Hygiene and Public Health. Their study, published in "Human Biology," cited the tremendous population increase of the last 300 years as a possible basis of some of the unwise complexities and problems of the modern age.

Pearl and Gould show the average density of world population now is about 40 persons to the square mile, approximately that of the United States, but that in reality only a little more than five per cent. of the land area of the earth contains 52.5 per cent. of its population. This congestion of people in big cities and thickly settled areas suggested to them an aggravation of some of the already present problems of civilization.

"Somebody," they wrote, "must haul them to where they eat, what they wear, what protects them from the rigors of the physical environment. Now, hauling means of subsistence is a service activity, for which somebody must be paid in the absence of a system of slavery."

"The aggregate economic burden as added to the business of human living on the earth, however skillfully and intelligently it may be done, is an extremely large one. It seems bound in principle to become still greater if the tendency to unevenness of population distribution over the earth's land area... continues to increase."

In this connection, the study referred to "a very rough estimate" that, two and a half acres are needed to support a human being. The fact that this estimate implies "good land" and so great an area must be spanned to provide for the peoples of the great cities suggested increasing difficulty with the vexing tasks of transportation.

The scientists pointed out that the startling rapidity of recent population growth means that in the comparatively brief period of 300 years the increase had outstripped by nearly five times that of all previous history of mankind, estimated at from 100,000 to 500,000 years. Little wonder, the study implied, that civilization is a little groggy and dazed by this multiplication of its people.

The study concluded tentatively that the reason for "this great spur of population growth" is the "expansion of man's effective universe, as a result of scientific discoveries and their application," giving as an example the steam engine and its effect upon communication and transportation.

Preservation Of Democracy

Depends Upon The Power Of The Democratic Press

Dr. Percival R. Foote, vice-chancellor of the University of Sydney, Australia, told the Southern Intercollegiate Press Association that the "preservation of all the best elements of civilization" depended upon the power of the democratic press. "At the present time," he said, "the number of European countries that sword is definitely stronger than the pen. There the press is not permitted to speak for peace nor even to publish facts that are considered to be adverse to military policies."

The papers report the case of an Illinois woman who has lived five years with only a half a brain. Nothing remarkable about that. Some car drivers get by with more of it.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Shipments of lower grade cattle, under the drought relief plan, total more than 12,000 head, Hon. W. N. Chant, Alberta minister of agriculture, said in an interview.

Restoration Fund

Loss Of $758,000 Suffered By Church Of England Is Fully Made Up

A loss of $758,000 which the Church of England in Canada suffered four years ago as a result of misadministration of its Rupert's Land restoration fund has been more than fully recovered, Rev. Canon Sidney Gould, general secretary of missions, told a capacity congregation in All Saints' church at Windsor, Ont.

The effort on the part of church members and clergy which had the effect of vindicating the honor, not only of Anglicans but of the whole Christian church, Canon Gould believed. But greater still, he contended, it had maintained the honor of the Master of the church.

Contributions ranging from more than $5,000 to a few pennies came in, Canon Gould said, but among the outstanding examples of spiritual heroism was the case of an Indian woman in the far north.

The squaw came to him at the close of a sermon and insisted he take from her $2 from her $5-a-year treaty money. The $5 represented the only assured income the woman had during the 12-month period.

Another example cited by Canon Gould was that of an elderly English-born lady who looked forward all her life to going back to her home in England, toward which her life savings were gathered. So impressed was she at the loss suffered by the church, she gave up the idea of the trip and turned over her entire savings to the fund.

About Great Men

Something Always To Be Gained By Good Company

Great men, taken up in any way, are profitable company. We cannot look, however imperfectly, upon a great man, without gaining something by him. He is the living light-fountain which it is good and pleasant to be near—the light which enlightens the darkness of the world—in whose radiance all souls feel that it is well with them. No nobler feeling than this of admiration for one higher than himself.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL'S PARTING COUNSELS

Golden text: I have fought the good fight, I have finished the course, I have kept the faith. II. Timothy 4:7.

Lesson: I. Timothy 6; II. Timothy 4; Titus 2.

Devotional reading: Psalm 121.

Explanations And Comments

Concerning Things Worth While, I Timothy 6:11-16. Addressing Timothy directly as a "man of God," Paul bids him avoid the things of which he has been speaking and strive to attain integrity, piety, faith, love, steadfastness and suavity, as Moffat translates the list. God would have those who bear his name strive for a prize far better than money. Prove your righteousness before God, measure them by the example of Jesus Christ, for this is true riches. Strive for faith which will sustain you in times of severe trial. Strive for love, that love which is long-suffering and kind.

Strive for meekness, such as you have seen exemplified in Jesus, who was patient at all times, even when spat upon and derided, and learn from him that the meek shall inherit the earth. It is better to be than, than much fine gold. He who attains such riches, in he not more blessed than he who strives for earthly riches which will perish? Such choices the better part which shall not be taken from him.

Charge you to keep your commission free from stains, free from reproach, till the appearance of our Lord Jesus Christ—which will be brought about in due time by that blessed and only Sovereign, King of kings and Lord of lords, who alone has immortality, who dwells in light that one can approach, whom no man has ever seen or seen (Moffat's translation).

Paul's Crown and Reward, 2 Timothy 4:8-8. Referring to his approaching martyrdom as if already accomplished, Paul writes: For I am already being offered, and the time of my departure is come. And then he gives voice to his triumphant confession: I have fought a good fight—I have contended earnestly in the good contest, for it is the athlete that Paul has in mind like a runner in the games I have finished the course; as contestants keep the rules of the games, so I have kept the rules of life's course, I have trusted in God, I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me the crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day.

Deficiency Diets

Ill Health Results From Lack Of Mineral Salts

When it is well known that ill health will result from the lack of adequate amounts of time, phosphorus, iodine, iron, and other essential mineral salts in the diet, why not avoid these dangerous diet deficiencies by the simple, pleasant and inexpensive expedient of including in the regular menu plenty of Canadian fish and shellfish—fresh, frozen, canned, dried, pickled, smoked? They are nourishing, health-guarding and ready to the housewife's hand in tempting variety. Why starve in the midst of plenty when these fine-flavoured, easily digested Canadian fish foods—from sea and freshwater—high in protein, rich in vitamins, and veritable storehouses of essential salts are readily available all the year 'round?

A series of tests showed that the average mileage of cars equipped with clean spark plugs was 15.88 miles to the gallon, against 16.70 when the plugs were dirty and worn.

Friday The Thirteenth

Will Not Make Another Appearance Until August 1937

It has never been proven that anything unfortunate really happened to anybody simply because Friday was dated up with the 13th but superstition by any other name, be it legend, tradition or usage, needs no factual precedent to make folks wary.

Friday, the 13th, made his jittery appearance twice this year, with no more significance to the old world's fortunes than he achieved 1000 years ago when some humorist of the period discovered the Gregorian calendar would present this combination 10 times every five years till the end of time—or the calendar.

Origin of the idea 13 as an unlucky number is variously credited. Astrologers of ancient Babylon so declared it. Mythologists of Old Scandinavia gave the number the curse of sagas because Balder, their sun-god, had to die when 13 were found in the circle of Valhalla.

Some who would have it the idea originated with the Christian era point out there were 13 at the Last Supper, including Judas Iscariot, who next day, traditionally a Friday, betrayed Jesus Christ for crucifixion.

Friday the 13th is taking a long solstice. He will not appear again till August of 1937 and only the once that year.

In 1938 his only date with the weary world is in May, but in 1939 he resumes twice-yearly appearances, January and October, with return visits in September and December, 1940.

Twenty-six years were needed to build the Great Pyramid at Gizeh, Egypt.

GERMANY AND JAPAN SIGN AN ANTI-RED PACT

Berlin.—Germany and Japan signed an agreement directed against the Communist Internationale. The alliance was signed at the foreign office after the government had announced it would publish an "official declaration."

Joachim von Ribbentrop, German ambassador to Great Britain, who is considered Chancellor Hitler's personal adviser on foreign affairs, affixed his signature on behalf of the German government. Japan was represented by Japanese Ambassador Kintomo Mushakoji.

Ambassadors of all foreign nations were summoned by sudden invitation for the ceremony.

The agreement, asserting the International Communist organization, with headquarters at Moscow, is aimed "at directing and violating existing states with all means at its command," said the two governments believed tolerance of such alleged interference "threatens world peace at large."

Hence Japan and Germany bound themselves for a period of five years to:

1. Inform and consult with each other and execute co-operative action to combat Communist Internationale activity.

2. Invite third parties "whose domestic peace is endangered by the disruptive activities of the Communist Internationale" to join them.

3. Exchange constant police information on the subject.

4. Take strict measures at home or abroad against persons who directly or indirectly serve the Communist Internationale, and

5. Co-operate in an international campaign against Communism through a permanent German-Japanese commission.

"For this agreement," it states, "both the German and Japanese texts are regarded as original versions. It becomes effective the day of signing and is in force for a period of five years."

"The high contracting states will, at the proper time before expiration of this period, arrive at an understanding with each other concerning the form this co-operation is to take."

Finally, a permanent commission of representatives of both nations was created to make effective the co-operative international campaign against Communism.

Soviet Russia, contending the German-Japanese agreement was a "military alliance" against the Moscow government, refused recently to sign a new agreement allowing Japan to fish in eastern Siberian waters.

The fishing arrangement, regarded as highly important to Japan because she gets the bulk of her fish from these waters, would have extended the rights for eight years. The present agreement expires Dec. 31.

Message From His Majesty

King Edward Sends Note of Sympathy To Family Of Rancher

High River, Alta.—A message of sympathy from His Majesty King Edward VIII. was delivered as funeral services were held for Joseph Harrison "TUP" Brown, pioneer Alberta rancher whose range borders the royal "E.P." ranch.

A message from the private secretary to His Majesty was received by the secretary to Governor-General Tweedsmuir, which read:

"His Majesty asks that his sympathies be conveyed to the family of Joseph Harrison 'TUP' Brown."

With Frank Beddingfield, Brown purchased the range now forming the E.P. ranch late in the 80's.

Missing Airliner Found

Cairo, Egypt.—An Egyptian airliner, missing for two days on a Mediterranean flight, was found safe with all its occupants uninjured after a forced landing on the Egyptian coast. Besides four crew members, occupants of the plane included a Japanese business man and Father Anastase, a scholar and student of Arabic, sworn to eternal alliance.

Endorse Trade Pacts

Chamber Of Agriculture Urges Continuation Of Empire Agreements

Toronto.—The Canadian Chamber of Agriculture endorsed a resolution urging continuation of the empire reciprocal trade agreements.

The chamber also urged the Dominion government "to give such terms with respect to the importation of British and empire goods as are calculated to develop trade and also facilitate the exportation of Canadian agricultural products."

Appreciation of the action of the Dominion government in negotiating the reciprocal trade agreement with the United States was voiced. The chamber also congratulated the Dominion administration on maintenance of the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act and believed it should be extended to deal more rapidly with farm indebtedness.

A delegation left Toronto to place proposals of the chamber regarding wheat marketing and other agricultural subjects before Hon. James Gardiner, Dominion minister of agriculture.

The delegation included J. H. Weston, Regina, who is elected chairman of the chamber.

Directors elected: J. H. Weston; W. C. McKenzie, Alberta Co-operative Council; Major E. E. Hutton, British Columbia; C. H. Burnell, Manitoba; H. H. Hannam, Ontario; P. A. McIsaac, maritimes; A. H. Mercer, Canadian Dairy Farmers' Federation; L. F. Burrow, Canadian Horticultural Council.

Peace Award Annoys Nazis

Nobel Prize Bestowed On German Pacifist Termed Insult

Berlin.—The German government termed award of the 1935 Nobel peace prize to Carl von Ossietzky, German pacifist just released from custody, a "challenge and an insult" in an official statement.

The biting expression of Nazi irritation asserted that "with Ossietzky the Nobel peace prize fell for the first time on one who was sentenced by the highest court of his country as a traitor."

The statement promised a further "direct reply" of a nature not revealed.

It was distributed as a commentary on an Oslo item by the German news agency briefly announcing the award.

"Bestowing the Nobel prize on a notorious traitor," the statement continued, "is an impudent challenge and insult to the new Germany. A proper, direct answer" will follow."

Nine Killed In Collision

Train Flows Into Elevated Railroad One In Chicago

Chicago.—A steel electric train which plowed into a wooden elevated railroad car left human wreckage in its wake—nine dead, and at least 65 injured.

The steel train struck from the rear near a northside station, where the eight-car elevated train, loaded with home-bound workers, waited for a signal from a dispatcher's tower.

The three-car steel train drove almost the length of the last elevated car, littering the tracks with dead and injured passengers.

Chief Deputy Coroner Victor L. Schlager announced he would start an inquest. General Manager Bernard J. Fallon, of the Chicago Rapid Transit Company, terming the accident "one of the worst in the history of the lines," said the firm would conduct a separate inquiry.

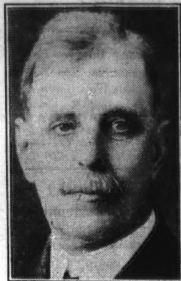

Army Team Wins

Capture The Challenge Trophy At Toronto Fair

Toronto.—Canada's army team swept to victory at the Royal Winter Fair horse show and captured the international officers' team challenge trophy, donated by G. Howard Ferguson, former Canadian high commissioner to Great Britain.

The trophy, concluding event in the officers' jumping competitions that featured the horse show, was won in a contest with army teams from Great Britain, United States, Irish Free State and Chile.

Automobile Menace

Says Drunken Drivers Should Have Their Licenses Taken Away

Ottawa.—Driving of automobiles should be a subject on the curricula of schools and colleges, Recorder Leonie Plante, of Montreal, declared at the national safety conference.

In some schools, he said, pupils were prohibited from having cars and in others they were allowed them only with their parents' consent. Thus the question whether they should have cars was not dependent on ability to drive, but on "parental indulgence."

Drunken drivers should have their licenses taken away, the recorder said, and all judges and recorders should have power to suspend licenses.

The automobile with certain hands at the wheel is Canada's "greatest murderer," said Prof. W. D. Tait, chairman of the department of psychology at McGill University.

Recorder Plante advocated establishment of speed zones. Controlled speed is not a menace, he stated, and there are places within cities where a driver may safely travel 40 or 50 miles an hour when he sees everything is clear.

Matter Under Consideration

But No Decision Reached Regarding Trans-Canada Air Service

Ottawa.—Organization of trans-Canada air services the Dominion government hopes to see in operation some time next year is occupying officials at the present time but developments have not yet reached the stage where any details may be published, Transport Minister C. D. Howe said.

What form the coast-to-coast operating concern will take has been a matter of much conjecture but the minister indicated no definite decisions had been reached in this respect. It is not anticipated the government will go into the air mail and passenger business itself and there is a strong rumor that the company will be largely controlled by the two railway systems, the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific.

TO JUDGE MAPLE LEAF CONTESTS

Charles W. Simpson, R.C.A., of Montreal (above, left) and James Crockett, prominent Montreal artist and designer (right) are two of the three judges who will select from 6,000 Canadian maple leaves the five most beautiful and the two largest, thus distributing $215 in prizes in the fourth annual maple leaf contest sponsored by the Canadian Government, through the Canadian Travel Bureau at Ottawa, in co-operation with the Canadian National Railway and Canadian Pacific Railway.

Increase Russian Armament

Soviets Will Continue To Fight "Fascistic Barbarism"

Moscow.—The usually taciturn Joseph Stalin approved a new and separate military industry commissariat, which led informed observers to believe he wished to accelerate Russian armament.

The idea was the only one accepted of the 100,000 suggestions offered for the new constitution which Stalin formally presented for ratification by the eighth All-Union Congress of Soviets.

The new ministry, Stalin said, would be evolved from the heavy industry commissariats which have been in charge of armaments.

The major part of Stalin's speech, as secretary-general of the Communist party, was devoted to an attack on Fascism and assurance that the Communist party would continue to be the only party in Russia.

Speaking on the day when an anti-Communist agreement between Germany and Japan was announced in Berlin, Stalin told the congress the new constitution gave moral support to all those fighting Fascism.

He said the constitution—which Stalin is generally credited with having written himself—was a new weapon in the hands of the people in fighting "Fascistic barbarism."

Marketing Wheat

Wheat Board Operations To Extend To Coarse Grains

Calgary.—Five recommendations to aid Canadian farmers were set forth in the annual report of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers, made public by L. C. Brouillette, of Regina, at the 14th annual meeting of the Alberta wheat pool.

They were:

1. That the Canadian wheat board operations be extended to coarse grains.

2. That the board should set up its own marketing agencies.

3. That international co-operation should be sought with the object of obtaining price levels for surplus wheat, fair both to producers and consumers.

4. That Canada, through trade agreements, should grant tariff concessions for the purpose of enlarging markets for Canadian wheat.

5. If, after all efforts have been made, the average annual wheat surplus of Canada cannot be absorbed, that necessary legislation be enacted providing for a quota system of deliveries from the farm.

R.C.M.P. Enlistments

Many Applicants Each Year, But Only Some 300 Accepted

Montreal.—Between 4,000 and 5,000 men seek enlistment in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police each year but only some 300 are accepted, Major-General Sir James H. MacBrien, commissioner of the force, told members of the Montreal junior board of trade.

"There is still some romance in the R.C.M.P.," he said as he dealt briefly with the northern work of his men. About 125 of the 3,000 men on the force are active in northern field, Sir James said.

HIGH TRIBUTE IS PAID TO GEN. SIR ARTHUR CURRIE

London.—High tribute to General Sir Arthur Currie, commander-in-chief of the Canadian corps in the Great War, and Sir John Monash, the Australian general, is contained in the sixth and final volume of the war memoirs of David Lloyd George.

The volume asserts "seniority and society" were the dominant factors in army promotion. It assails several army leaders for avoiding the field of battle.

"In the Dominion forces, General Currie, the Canadian commander, and Sir John Monash, the Australian, were both in civil life when the war opened. The greatness of the abilities of Monash was not drawn to the attention of the cabinet in any despatches," Lloyd George writes. "Professional soldiers could hardly be expected to advertise the fact that the greatest strategist in the army was a civilian when the war began."

Both Currie and Monash proved themselves brilliant military leaders and went right through to the top, he continues. They had a natural aptitude for soldiering and the fact of the being officers in unprofessional armies gave full play to their gifts. "Monash was, according to the testimony of those who knew him well, his genius for war and what he accomplished by it, the most resourceful general in the whole British army."

At another point Lloyd George describes the Canadians as the "fire-hardened point of our attack whenever any difficult thrust had to be undertaken. After the Somme battle they were marked out as storm troops and whenever the Germans found the Canadians in the line they prepared for the worst."

Discussing promotions, he writes: "No one reached the highest ranks in the British army except those who were there or thereabouts when the war began. No civilian rose above the rank of brigadier-general. Seniority and society were dominant factors in army promotion. Deportment counted a good deal. Brains came a bad fourth."

Want Representation

Ontario Farm Women Want One Woman On Every Rural School Board

Toronto.—United Farm Women of Ontario are ready to swing into a campaign to see that every rural school-board has at least one woman member. A resolution to this effect was passed unanimously at the convention of the organization. It reads: "Whereas the second plank in the women's platform laid down at the time the U.F.W.O. was organized 18 years ago, advocating the rural woman's right to sit as a school trustee has been attained."

"Therefore be it resolved that we now set as our objective one woman on every rural school board."

Mrs. Orval Hind, Bear Line, Dover township, Kent county, was elected unanimously for a third term as president.

Show Horses Injured

Believe Hypodermic Needle Used On Animals At Royal Winter Fair

Toronto.—Owners of three horses from western Ontario stables at the Royal Winter Fair decided their horses, with a total value of nearly $7,000, had been injured by what they believed was a hypodermic needle.

The horses: Bobby Zombro, owned by C. Cole, Delhi; Ceylon Dominex, owned by Innes stable, Simcoe; Patricia Vole, owned by Earl E. Foster, Galt.

The first casualty was suffered when Cole returned to the horse show building from supper to find his horse bleeding. Later Foster and the Innes stable attendants found their animals hurt.

The three men made public the injuries and speculation was aroused whether there was any connection between these attacks and the collapse of a Toronto woman at the dog show after she was allegedly stabbed by a needle-wielder.

Wedding Anniversary.

Op Saturday Evg., Nov. 28, a number of friends of Mr and Mrs Philip Adam met at their home in Golden Spike district, and helped them celebrate the 25th anniversary of their wedding. Singing and dancing helped to pass a very enjoyable evening. Rev P Hanneman was toastmaster, and discharged his duties in a very acceptable manner.

Among those present were: Rev P and Mrs Hanneman, Mr and Mrs Hy Schubert, Mr and Mrs Gust Schubert, Mr and Mrs E Hennig.

Mr and Mrs Fred Hennig, Mr and Mrs V Schoepf, Mr and Mrs Schmit, Mr and Mrs L Treit, Mr and Mrs Rosbaum, Mr and Mrs R Schultz, Mr and Mrs Ph Schmit, Mr and Mrs John Metzler, Mr and Mrs J Brennenstuhl. And a large number of young people.

At midnight a dainty lunch was served. The center of the table was decorated with a very nice wedding cake with silver trimmings.

On leaving, the guests wished Mr and Mrs Adam a long and happy future.

The Ideal Remover.

Rather a neat sense of humor must be credited to Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, National President of the American Women's Christian Temperance Union, says the Christian Science Monitor. "Alcohol," she told a convention, "will remove grass stains from summer clothes." Then she added: "It will also remove summer clothes, also spring and winter clothes, not only from the man who drinks it, but also from his wife and children." There is a pithiness about that which sermons and volumes might miss.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA CRAIG

"I suppose it was inevitable, but well, I got jealous. How could I help it? Yes, jealous of every man who smiled at, forgetting that I was the one who told you to smile! I tried to tell myself that I hated you for your tantalizing indifference. I tried, right from the start, to think of you the worst—the very worst. I didn't realize until I kissed you this afternoon that I love you; that I have loved you from the beginning."

There was a roiling clamor in Starr's head, a strange throbbing like the beat of jungle tom-toms in her veins, like the sound of those weird drums of the desert, made of stretched goatskins, that one heard when approaching an oasis. Uncanny, eerie, but so swooningly, deliciously filled with a strange delight!

Michael loved her! The Hassan of her own Arabian Nights story loved her!

She tried to realize it, and realization brought a gushing wave of feeling right from the inmost depths of her being, like nothing she had ever known before, or dreamed of. The first real thing in her life, especially in this swift merry-go-round of crazy days and nights. Michael loved her! She did not realize at just what moment he found her hands. She only knew of a sudden that he was holding them, crushing them in a strong grip that hurt and thrilled at the same time. He was begging; his voice was humble.

"It's not too late, is it, Starr? Say it isn't! We'll go away from here. I have enough money. I don't think I ever want to hear of the word again—except for what it will bring to you, and me, if you'll say so—just what I already have. We'll go somewhere where no one has ever heard of that wretched 'Play-Girl'! We'll start all over again, in a home of our own where everything will be different..." There was an ache in his voice that petitioned: "Starr! Say something!"

In the darkness her lips moved wordlessly. What could she say? Michael loved her!

She had brought him to this. Yes, deliberately. The tantalizing indifference of which he spoke had been as far from that as it was possible to be. It had been part of a carefully-thought-out, elaborate campaign for vengeance against him and against Stephanie Dale. She had wanted to humble the proud Michael to her feet, and then she would have laughed at him! And tossed her head!

"My nerves are better"

writes Mrs. P. M. Peterson, R. R. No. 2, Strathmore, Alberta.

"When I was 14 years old I took six bottles of your Vegetable Compound. Now I am taking it again for painful periods and it is helping me a lot. I am in good spirits and do my work every day. My mother used to take your medicine and always recommended it."

98 out of 100 Women Report Benefit

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

at the overbearingly egotistic Stephanie Dale with all her Peter Styvassant ancestry! Sweet revenge!

In this moment of realization, revenge was a blossoming which completed its vicious parable and landed squarely on Starr Ellison's own black head. Because she knew in this startling moment that she loved him, too, that a despairing love of him had been the reason for most of the blackest moments of the days since she had known him. That realization overhauled everything else, even the upheld scythe of the Grim- Reaper which was always menacing her.

She loved him, and in all her forbidden dreams she had never visualized that love would be like this, an overwhelmingly emotional, throat-choking storm beside which all other emotions she had ever known paled into insignificance. A grand, mad passion that roared body and soul. The same sort of passion that Tut-Amen-Ra had known for the lovely priestess, Ama-Sun, so that he meant to be near her in time and eternity...

Cursing to the depths of his own soul any one who should ever disturb that side-by-side. So much Starr Ellison understood now, in one brief, flashing moment that she had never understood before. A poignant pity for the disturbed lovers in their cot in far-away Egypt, near the fringe of the Valley of the Queens, swept over her. Now she knew!

Michael's warm hands were gripping hers, pleading as was his voice. "Starr! Say something!"

What could she say? What could she offer this man whose dearest ideal was his sons, and beautiful daughters? She would make him a widow almost before he was a bridegroom! She would ruin his life. Suddenly her ears began to ring with an ominous jarring rhythm. It was all around her in the air.

"Thou Shalt Not—Thou Shalt Not..." The curse of her! She!

Again an imaginary parade passed before her eyes, bringing the greatest heartbeat a woman could know. Sturdy little men with clear gray eyes like Michael's; little girls who looked like Stephanie. They must look like Stephanie; they could never be Starr's. She, with a wild, yearning dream of motherhood; she with her pitiful few months left to live!

She strained against his enveloping arms.

Michael, let me go!

He only laughed—the confident laugh of a conquering lover.

"Why should I let you go, when I've only just found you?"

His lips were on her again—she was afraid on that sea of languorous delight... Why did she give him back his kisses, allow herself for even a single moment the thrill of the rapture of love given and returned? And she knew she wanted him to speak—except for what it will bring to you, and me, if you'll say so—just what I already have. We'll go somewhere where no one has ever heard of that wretched 'Play-Girl'!

"Tonight you are the real Starr, girl! I found on the spot that my heart told me right then that the girl of my dreams, if I'd only known it. Starr! To me you're just like your name. On the night you were born the brightest star in the heavens must have been peeping through the window of your home, and that's why they named you so! You've been a cold, brilliant, far-away star to me, darling—too long! Tonight you're different. You are a warm, near star! A dear star!"

Somewhat she broke away from him. She felt all crushed inside. Paradise so near, and yet she dare not pass its portals. Love—and she dare not take it! Every soft word of his was an extra, twisted agony.

She cried out wildly: "No! I'm a dark star! A doomed star!"

Instantly suspicion edged his voice. "You mean because of Lance?"

You mean that you and he—

The poignant agony of it! He thought that she was trying to tell him that the gossip was right; that she had been Lance Marlowe's mistress.

She must do something—anything! On a wild impulse she cried out: "That! Yes, that's right!" Better a thousand times let him believe that, than have him guess the truth.

For minutes that were another eternity, Michael was silent. Starr could only imagine the myriad doubts that tortured his mind. When he spoke again, his voice was hoarse, but his words almost made the heart leap from his breast.

CRAWLED UPSTAIRS ON ALL FOURS

Owing to Rheumatism in Her Knees

It was not a very dignified way of going upstairs, but she had rheumatism in her knees, and it was the best she could do, at the time. Since then, she has been taking Kruschen Salts, and now feels much better.

Read her letter—
"I had very painful gout in my big toe and could only get upstairs on all fours owing to rheumatism in my knees. It is over three years ago since I commenced taking Kruschen Salts. I must say on damp days it is quite better. I am over 60 years of age, have a complexion like a girl's and feel very fit. I am fully repaid for taking a half teaspoonful of Salts each morning in a cup of hot water."

(Mrs.) A.W.
The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are frequently caused by deposits of uric acid in the muscles and joints. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating your liver and kidneys to healthy, regular action, and help them to get rid of the excess acid which is the cause of so much suffering.

"If that is true," he said, in a tone of mingled resignation and self condemnation, "then that's my fault, too. I am responsible for whatever has happened to you. It's not too late, Starr. I'll take you away. I'll make you forget. I'll make my love for you your anaesthesia for forgetting..."

It seemed almost unbelievable! That a man like this could exist in the world. Michael—dear Michael!—so ready to forgive, to take all blame to himself! If only that were all that lay between them—if only a thing like that, with all it implied, were what kept keeping them apart! If only she could have swung herself into his arms and cried:

"I made a mistake, Michael—Hassan! A terrible mistake. But I'm ready to make up for it—for everything—by giving you my whole future, by devoting it, myself, all the love of my future life, to making you happy!"

How bitter those words: "If only..."

Another voice suddenly cut through the darkness. A form was materializing, outlined against the lighted open window. Lance Marlowe this time. Seeking a promised dance. Starr had never been so glad to see Lance since the first time she had met him. She held out her hands to him, laughing.

"It's nice to see I'm not forgotten, Lance! I'm dying to dance!"

Michael said swiftly, under his breath:

"Don't go like this, Starr, without giving me an answer!"

She managed a stricken whisper. "I can't tonight, Michael—honestly..."

Give me a few hours—say, tomorrow night at Lance's party at the Sea Beach Casino. And then she fled from him.

As the lights from the ball room struck Starr's face when he led her to the open window, Lance said to her:

"You look as if you'd been seeing ghosts out there, Starr?"

She murmured: "I have." And for once her painted lips were not smiling.

CHAPTER XI.

Starr was not certain she had been asleep at all when the small ivory telephone at her bedside whirled her to an awakening. Sleepily she picked it up. The voice calling out of the bright morning made her heart spin to a dizzy daze, then stop altogether.

If he only knew that it was the remembered tones of that voice which had kept her awake until the sun was high!

It was a cheerful voice, and it had never had a harsh Michael Padbourne appeared to have forgotten it.

There was an undercurrent of excitement even in his light tone and words.

"Starr!" He heard her steepy murmur answer: "What! Not awake yet? Arise and shine, honey—I'm coming over!"

Starr was awake on the instant.

She shivered in the lulling warmth of the room and the silk and lace of her luxurious bed.

"No, Michael! You can't! Didn't I tell you? I'll be seeing you at Lance's party—tonight!"

She meant to hang up, but somehow she didn't. It was so wonderful to hear Michael's voice—just to hear it.

"Wait!" he was calling through the air. "Don't you dare hang up on me, woman! You hear me?"

"But, Hassan—I'm sleepy..."

"No—but—get into some clothes, honey... I know you said you'd give me my answer tonight, but I'm not going to wait. Been awake since the party thinking everything over! I've got to see you now! Get that! It's almost noon, anyway... You should have had your beauty sleep..."

he laughed. "As if you needed it! I'm coming over, child—and that's the whole answer. We're going to have lunch beneath the mumblyrhay window, or whatever you call 'em—dates, and little black loaves, goats' milk if I can find any, and a jug of wine and a narghlee—Make you feel at home! I've got to see my desert princess now—do you get that?"

Masterful Michael! Not the humble Michael of the night before, but an exultant Michael with an accepted-lover tone... He was so sure! Starr's heart felt like a dull leaden weight as she hung up the phone. And why should he not feel assured?

Her heart had said things to him last night that her lips had denied. ... He knew—she knew...

Panic struck her suddenly, as she got quickly out of bed. Michael was coming. He had refused to accept her denial. She must not see him. Not yet! Not yet! What was she to tell him? How could she let him know?

Her brain was a dizzying maze as she tried to think it over, her slim white hands, in which each vein showed in their fragility, pressing tightly against the hot head that refused to give her an answer.

Only one thing she knew. She must not see Michael until she had at least formulated some plan for what their future course of action would be. To see him, too, might take from her all will to go on to deny the love that was consuming dance. There was only one answer. Michael was coming, was even then on his way. She must get out, away from the Egyptian-looking penthouse before he got her.

Cannot Be Abolished

Altoid Highlanders Given Royal Patent By Queen Victoria

Law or no law, the Duke of Altoid's little army cannot be abolished.

When Great Britain's public order bill receives final sanction from parliament, all political uniforms and private armies in Great Britain will be banned—except the killed Altoid Highlanders.

Their immunity to the law dates from 1845 when Queen Victoria, on her first visit to Scotland, granted the Duke of Altoid's grandfather a royal patent.

Victoria, it is said, was so delighted with the 200 killed clansmen, armed with old Scottish battle-axes, she suggested they be converted into a standing army and presented with regimental colors.

Although the Altoid Highlanders never have appeared in the army list, the war office recognizes their existence.

In feudal times, when the Highlanders were organized to fight for the Duke of Altoid against civil chaos, they were a real fighting force.

Now the duke's little army appears only about once a year, in September, when the duke marches at the head of his clansmen in Highland ceremonial.

Invents New Parachute

Wesley Kuban, a notorious robber serving a term of several years in the penitentiary at Mirov, Czechoslovakia, invented a new automatic parachute during his jail term. Trials proved satisfactory and the parachute has already been registered with the patent office. The Czechoslovak war ministry is now negotiating with Kuban about buying his invention.

The hardest ups and downs are keeping up appearances and keeping down expenses.

Little Helps For This Week

And that which fell among thorns are they, which when they have heard go forth and are choked with the cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection. Luke 8:14.

Preserve me from my calling's snare, And hide my simple heart above, Above the thrush of chinking care, The gilded baits of worldly love.

Anything, no matter how deeply it is hidden, which is allowed in the heart contrary to the will of God will cause us to fall before our enemies. Any root of bitterness cherished against another, any self-seeking, any harsh judgments indulged in, and slackness in obeying the voice of the Lord, any doubtful habits or surroundings, any of these things will eventually cripple and paralyze our spiritual life. Our blessed Guide is always secretly discovering these things to us by continual pangs of conscience, so that we are left without excuse.

Wants Old Coin

Jack Thomas, Millford, Ontario, broker who unearthed a Sir Isaac Brock penny dated 1816, has received a letter from a woman in Pittsburgh who wants to purchase the century-old coin. She said she was a relative of the Upper Canada war hero who was killed at the battle of Queenston Heights during the war of 1812.

Surgery of the Seas

Dr. Adam N. Beattie, surgeon of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, and his ship's nurse, Miss Margaret Grant Allan, who are shown here, performed two delicate operations during the ship's round trip to the Far East, via Honolulu, just completed in Vancouver. On the outward trip, between Honolulu and Yokohama, the liner's huge turbines were stalled for nearly an hour while Dr. Beattie removed a ruptured duodenal ulcer from a Chinese passenger. On the homeward trip, between Hong Kong and Shanghai, the London, Ont. doctor's skill was again called into play when a Chinese saloon steward was stricken with acute appendicitis. Both patients are recovering well, the physician reported. Dr. Beattie, former house physician at Vancouver's St. Paul's hospital, and graduate of University of Western Ontario's medical school at London, Ont., stated that the Empress of Japan's splendidly equipped operating room made the operations little different in practice from any performed in large hospitals. His assistant, Miss Allan, is a graduate of St. Paul's hospital, Saskatoon. She has been in the Empress of Japan for the past three and a half years and previously was in the Empress of Russia. Dr. Beattie first went to sea in 1933 aboard the Canadian-Australasian liner "Niagara", out of Vancouver.

Whose Savings Will be Next?

The money the people of this Province borrowed was used to provide them the houses, barns, and lands which now give them shelter and in which they do business. They have used them, and they continue to do so. Should they not recognize those who made it possible for them to have those things? Is it just that those who have saved, and who have been thrifty, to provide you with the facilities you possess should now be deprived of their savings?

Let those who look upon the lending companies as "big business" enquire whose money they have enjoyed. They will learn, as we shall tell them in one of the statements to follow.

If the citizens of Alberta pass by lightly the injustice of this Act, what is to prevent their own savings, their homes, their business, their farms and other possessions being taken away from them? Can they feel safe in the enjoyment of their savings? Keep in mind that the confiscation of the property of others is only the first step leading to the confiscation of yours.

You have been told that our Government does not intend to confiscate. The Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act would confiscate the savings of hundreds of thousands of people. Whose savings will be taken next?

This statement is one of a series written by The Mortgage Loans Association of the Province of Alberta. The Association is composed of 34 member companies. It represents hundreds of thousands of small investments by typical Canadians. Its loans to citizens of Alberta amount to some forty-five million dollars.

(The third statement in this series will be published in two weeks)

John Sutherland Injured.

Dr Walton answered a hasty summons Saturday evening to the home of Mr W Riedo, to where John Sutherland had been taken, after receiving injuries while operating a wood sawing outfit.

John had had his clothing caught on the shaft of his gasoline driven cordwood saw which he and a neighbor were running, on the latter's farm.

After receiving emergency treatment from Dr Walton, the injured man was taken to the Misericordia hospital in Edmonton, where an examination showed him to be suffering from concussion of the brain, and possible fracture of the base of the skull. In addition to his severe head injury, Sutherland, is suffering from lacerations about the jaw and a badly wrenched left arm.

Coyes—Smigelski.

On Tuesday, November 24th, a wedding of interest to residents of Glory Hills district took place in the Greek Orthodox Church, Edmonton, when Miss Mary Coyes daughter of Mr and Mrs Michael Coyes, of Glory Hills district, became the bride of Mr Nick Smigelski, of Manly district.

Following the ceremony in Edmonton, the bridal party motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding repast was served to some three score guests.

On the return from their honeymoon the happy young couple will take up their residence on the bridegroom's farm in the Carvel district.

A Tip for the Semi-Bald.

Now that the barbers' code is in effect, we would suggest that the semi-bald in Alberta form a protective association and request the minister of trade and industry to provide for a rebate on haircuts where the customer displays an absence of wool on a surface of 3 inches or more in circumference.

The barbers' code is the only one—excepting medicine and law—that provides for a maximum price for work that hasn't been done.—Barrhead Leader.

"Caps" Are Important.

An awful mess got by in an exchange, states a Kanasas editor, all because the printer used small letters on two words which required to be capitalised. The item, as printed, read: "John Lewis of this community and Miss Ida G Jones, the long hollow school teacher, were married last week."
